

Massachusetts
Families Organizing for Change

WEBINAR SERIES ON HOUSING

Introduction to Family-Governed Housing Cooperatives

Communities in other countries have developed innovative arrangements enabling individuals with disabilities to lead lives on their terms. The family-governed housing cooperative is one such model in which multiple families join forces to create a network that serves as a vital resource and support system. Michael Kendrick, PhD, will provide an overview of this model based on his extensive work with cooperatives.

This webinar will help you understand:

- The basics of creating the family-governed housing cooperative model.
- How this model can provide a key role for a person with a disability in designing their individual support arrangements.
- How this helps families access legal authority to direct and oversee support arrangements for their loved ones.

Join us!

1:00 pm EST, March 19, 2020

Register at massfamilies.org/housing-webinar-series/

DR. MICHAEL KENDRICK, Director, Kendrick Consulting International, brings over 40 years of experience as an independent international consultant in human services. He is also a Director at the Center for Public Representation, where he leads supported decision-making initiatives. Dr. Kendrick has worked with governments, advocacy and community groups as well as service organizations in many countries. His interests include service quality, creation of safeguards for vulnerable persons, social integration, innovation, personalized support, and reforms in human services.

